LOCAL NEWS.

Diamond Dyes at Clark's Drug Store.
Still they come. What! More well-dressed? Another of our old citizens, Mr.
W. J. Barker has turned his back to the bachelors and enrolled among the benedicts. On the 28th inst. he was married to Miss Georgina Danna, of Battleford, at the Roman Catholic church by the Rev. A. H. Bigmore. We extend to the young couple our greetings.

Mr. J. C. Slater lost a valuable ram on the morning of the exhibition. He was intending to exhibit some sheep and had put the ram in the wagon box and tied him by the neck to keep him from jumping out, and while Mr. Slater was away getting some other things ready to bring to the exhibition the ram threw himself over the side of the box. Mr. Slater found the animal too late to save him.
He was a very fine animal and one he had purchased only last fall from Thompson Bros.

The first night of the bazaar held yesterday at St. Anne's convent was a success. The place fitted up for the occasion presented a very nice appearance and was well crowded with people who,
understanding the object of the bazaar
spent their money freely for charity.
During the evening we were treated to some very good performances. The first was a chorus, Solomon Levy, by the young ladies of the convent, with piano accompaniment by Mr. Peters, and was very well rendered. The little comedy, Signor Gableland and his wife Nancy Palavero, by Miss Howie and Miss Drever, took the cake, and more laughter might have caused indisposition.
The bells, which were human bells, by the young ladies assisted by Mr. Peters, were quite a novelty. Mr. Peters hammered Home Sweet Home in variations
or perhaps Hail Columbia, and the harmonious vibrations that resounded from those sweet bells produced a grand effect;
only one thing was found strange enough, the harder the bells were struck the softer came the sound. Evidently it works on a new principle. The Ten Little Niggers, by the young boys, was also very amusing. In sum it was a pleasant evening. The articles were of the very best kind. The Reverend Mothers spared no pains to accommodate the visitors, and the best devotion of Mr. Peters contributes largely to the success of the bazaar. We hope to see another full house this evening.

Mr. S. W. Warner, station agent of Qu'Appelle, was married on the 7th inst.,
to Miss Harriett of Brockville, sister of Mr. Jos. Hurd of this place. Miss Hurd was for some time a resident of Prince Albert.

Mr. Louis Marion, Indian instructor
at Duck Lake, came to town Wednesday with some products of the Indian farm to show at the exhibition. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Eliza
Marion, who will continue to attend St.
Anne's convent.

Mr. Goodfellow, who has the contract for the erection of our new school, is pushing the work, in order to have it ready at an early day for occupation, so that the many waifs now roaming around the streets may be brought before the Cald to receive their daily duties.

The Town Council has at last wakened up and on Monday began the grading of Church street, from River street to Presbyterian square. It improves very much the appearance of the street, and we are glad to hear that it is the intention to grade several of the most important streets.

On Monday evening last after old fog
had passed from view and darkness began to spread around, the hard boys decided to once more light up the boulevard, and raise the spirits of the depressed by the waxing of their various instruments.
They did so. With their lamps upon their foreheads they proceeded to the Presbyterian square, where they delighted our town's people with many beautiful pieces of music.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 30, 1887.

The fourth annual exhibition of the Lorne Agricultural Society was held here on Thursday in beautiful weather. The proceedings were of the most gratifying nature. The turn out of exhibits and spectators was large, and we shall give a full description, with prize list, in next issue.

A recent issue of the London Times has a letter from Mr. J. C. Hopkins, which contains an able expression of what is undoubtedly the prevalent feeling in Canada with regard to commercial union with the United States. The gist of the matter is, that if once the custom house barrier were abolished, Canadian man-facturers would certainly be swamped by the surplus products of the States. It is a well known fact that the accumulated wealth of years would be lavishly squandered by American commercial magnates in the task of underselling, at any cost and any sacrifice, the obnoxious Canadian products, for the purpose of eventually establishing their own supremacy and obtaining a monopoly of the Canadian market.

The Canadian Pacific company can congratulate itself upon the success which has attended its efforts to persuade the British Government to subsidize it for carrying the mails by the Pacific route. This will do more to bring the line before the eyes of the world than anything that has yet occurred. It will be the means of inducing the tourists and travellers to take this route on their way to China and Japan, as the plain inference will be that, as the British Government has put its endorsement on the line by subsidizing it to carry the mails, it must be the quickest route. Canada is slowly, but steadily, coming to the front and attracting the notice of the countries at the other end of the earth. Some of these days the British Government will see the advantage of the route, not only for postal purposes, but for military transportation.

What must be the mental condition of the man who has nothing to do? How does he put the day in, and to what does he look forward when he opens his eyes and sees the sun shining in the morning? Most people have their business to look after, or their work to do in the factory or shop, but in every community there are a few who have nothing to do, and yet they manage to drag out an existence day after day and year after year. It must be hard work. An object in life justifies an existence. Those who have no object in life therefore do not even justify their own existence, much less confer any benefit on the community by continuing to exist. How would it be if by some strange transformation the comfort and conveniences of civilization were to be suddenly swept aside, the conditions of primitive life were re-established, and every man had to go out and shoot or fish or dig up roots with his hands in order to secure the means of existence! Some of those indifferent people who go loitering through life would look rather foolish if left to their own devices. What will they do on the next planet after they leave this one? They cannot expect that good fortune will always be at their heels. It may be observed that those whose purpose in life is simply to kill time usually succeed in killing not only time but themselves. One of the best turns a father can do for his boy is to give him a good trade or profession. One of the worst is to leave him a lot of money to do with as he pleases.

There seems to be more discussion over the appointment of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain as the British representative on the fishery commission than there is over the commission itself. Chamberlain is a man of marked ability and has for some years been looked upon as the most likely man in England to succeed Gladstone. He is clever enough to see which way the wind is blowing, and for this reason he quit the Gladstone ranks on the Irish question, seeing that the English people would never consent to let Ireland go. His instincts and tendencies are Radical and he would feel much more at home in company with Mr. Gladstone than in company with Lord Salisbury or even Lord Harrington. When they were colleagues in the same Cabinet Chamberlain did not hesitate to criticize Lord Harrington. He called him an arm-chair politician and the Rip Van Winkle of British politics. He also intimated that the Radicals had been down in the hold long enough and that they intended in future to walk on the quarter deck, where the Wings spent all their time. Mr. Goschen he pleasantly referred to as an Egyptian mummy. Fancy if in Canada one member of the Dominion Cabinet were to take to criticizing his colleagues! People would never get over it. It is easy to see that Mr. Chamberlain is not altogether at his ease in his present position. He would not give the Government his undivided support in putting Ireland under the operation of the Crimes Act, and it is clear that he still keeps in view Mr. Gladstone's mantle. We shall see how he looks after British interests in the fishery affair.

Socialists have been pushing themselves into notice in New York by holding a meeting and shouting "Down with the United States." There are in the United States about sixty millions of people and a few score Socialists, and it is only fair to assume that the six millions will be able to hold their own against the few score. In Chicago the Anarchists who were tried, convicted and sentenced to death, are still awaiting the judgment of the higher court to which their case was appealed. That they will go to the gallows no one now believes. Had they been hanged for the murder of the policemen the moral effect throughout the republic would have been great. Expressing one's opinions about property and the right of the people is one thing; murdering policemen is quite another. Such queer characters have responded to the invitation of the republic to leave the shores of foreign lands and come to the land of freedom where unity prevails in its greatest form, that the cry has gone up on the part of the native-born element to close the gates. The people who come bring their peculiar sentiments with them. They change their skies, but their character they cannot change. The Americans are an easy going people, but once they make up their minds to suppress a nuisance they do not let the grass grow under their feet. Some day they will make up their minds to put an end to Socialists and Anarchists, and for a time matters will be lively.

Mr. Wm. Tait is erecting a storehouse on Church-street.

The Ven. Archdeacon J. A. Mackay and Rev. A. H. Wright left for Battleford on Monday last on church and other business. They expect to return in a couple of weeks time.

J. W. Hurd and family left for Snake Plain this week. While there Mr. Hurd will be engaged in putting the Missionary mission church in proper repair. They will be absent about a month.

GENERAL NEWS.

Ottawa, Sept. 17. — In reference to the Behring sea seizures of last season it is alleged here that a breach of faith has occurred through the ignorance of the American authorities at Sitka. It appears that Secretary Bayard, on receipt of the news from Sitka, stating the grounds on which the Canadian vessels had been seized, at once telegraphed ordering the restoration of the vessels and skins to their owners, and also informed the British Minister at Washington of his having done so. The magistrate at Sitka, on receipt of the telegram from Secretary Bayard, ordered his marshal to carry out the instructions, but before this was effected, withdrew the order on the alleged ground that the telegram might not be authentic. He denies having received any further instructions from Washington, and refuses to act on Mr. Bayard's telegram. It is understood that this matter will be made a subject of immediate report to the Privy Council by the Minister of Fisheries.

Pearse, N. W. T., Sept. 18. — Mr. Cecil Spring Rice arrived here yesterday morning from Washington on a visit to his brother, who owns a farm four miles from here. To-day while handling a Winchester rifle, and not knowing it was loaded, he accidentally shot a neighbor called William Love, the ball passing through his body. There are very little hopes of his recovery.

Toronto, Sept. 17. — It is stated that the visit of Sir John Macdonald to this city is in connection with the appointment of two superior court judges. The names of W. M. Falconbridge, of Toronto, and W. P. Street, of London, are mentioned in this connection.

Montreal, Sept. 18. — The Lacrosse championship match yesterday between the Shamrocks and Montreal was a magnificent exhibition of the game, and resulted in a victory for the former by three games to two. Over 5,000 people witnessed the game.

Kingston, Sept. 18. — Yesterday morning an order was received from Ottawa for the selection of forty men from "A" battery to be sent to British Columbia to form part of "C" battery. A similar number will be taken from "B" battery of Quebec.

Ottawa, Sept. 18. — The Government have been requested to call the attention of Canadian manufacturers to the splendid opportunity of displaying Canadian goods at the International exhibition at Brussels.

Richmond, Que., Sept. 18. — The Governor-General and Lady Lansdowne and suite visited the town to-day and were most enthusiastically received.

Montreal, Sept. 17. — Canadian Pacific Railway Company's earnings for the week ending Sept. 14th, $243,000; same week last year, $219,000.

Ottawa, Sept. 18. — Advice to the Fisheries department state that Canadian fishermen have had very good catches this year.

London, Sept. 18. — Dillon, in an interview with a United States Press correspondent to-day, declared it was impossible to deny the gravity of the agitation now progressing in Ireland. The district most disturbed was that of south Galway. The new agent of estates there was showing great activity and it was feared that trouble would result. Dillon expected that the leaders of the national movement would soon be proceeded against and he would not be surprised if within a month or two the majority of them, including himself, were picking oakum.

Dublin, Sept. 18. — Archbishop Walsh has written a letter in which he says that as the landlords at the recent meeting failed to adopt a manful attitude on the question of a conference with their tenants, he fears the opportunity to effect a settlement is now lost.

Paris, Sept. 18. — In a duel to-day Maurice Bernhardt, son of Sara Bernhardt, severely wounded a journalist named Alexis who had written an article reflecting upon the famous actress.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17. — The friends of the condemned anarchists held a meeting yesterday to consider whether they would appeal the case to the United States supreme court. It does not seem to have occurred to any of them that an appeal does not lie from the supreme court of Illinois to the supreme court of the United States.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 17. — The schooner, Fleur de Lis, arrived from the south seas to-day. The captain reports that a Spanish warship had landed a garrison on Ponape the chief island of the Caroline group and taken formal and permanent possession of the group.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 17. — Mrs. Ford, who claims that she lost her three children and $17,000 of gold dust on her arrival from California, refuses all food with the intention of starving herself to death, and will give no further information to the police.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 17. — The town of Ironwood, in the Gogebic range, is on fire. There are no waterworks and the town is at the mercy of the flames.

Nottingham, N. H., Sept. 17. — Joseph Clegg, the oldest ex United States senator, a veteran of the war of 1812, died yesterday, aged 96.

IMPOSING CEREMONY.

The Consecration of St. Boniface Cathedral.

After long and arduous missionary efforts extending considerably over half a century, the pioneer church of Roman Catholicism in Manitoba was formally consecrated to its high purpose on Sunday. His Grace Archbishop Feltz of Montreal acting as consecrator. The scene was one of the most impressive in the church ritual and was conducted with all solemnity incident to the occasion. Every preparation had been made for the event and the interior of the edifice with its few ornaments of simple design never presented a more attractive appearance, while the solemn rites of consecration and the large number of devotees assembled gave a decidedly impressive air to the whole scene. The significance of the occasion was fully realized, not only by residents of St. Boniface, but by adherents of the church for miles round, large numbers of whom could be seen at an early hour driving towards the cathedral. The weather was simply perfect and a more glorious day could not have been wished for. As part of the ceremony was to take place outside the cathedral, seats had been arranged in the grounds, so that by half past seven the space opposite the principal entrance was densely crowded. In the town the occasion was celebrated in gala style, and quite a number of flags and pennants could be seen in various directions unfurled to the breeze.

THE WEST ON THE RAILROAD QUESTION.

While out at Deloraine recently Hon. Mr. Hamilton took a short drive with Mr. Alexander, M. P., and in the course of a couple of hours or so saw about thirty farmers, all of whom expressed themselves unanimously in favor of the construction of the Red River road. They said that although in all probability, judging from present appearances, they might be last to benefit by it, still they were in favor of its construction to a man. At various points along the line where he touched, Mr. Hamilton heard similar expressions of opinion. Referring to western connection Mr. Hamilton said: "As soon as we can solve the present railway situation we will take up the question of western railroad connection. It is the object of our policy to give railway facilities and competition to the west as soon as we can. Being asked as to the practicability of raising the necessary funds for the R.R. road in the Province on Provincial bonds, he said: "While west I was told by a large number of people that they were prepared to take the bonds providing it was necessary to put them on the home market. A leading mercantile man said he would give two weeks of his time in disposing of those bonds, and he was satisfied he could place a great many thousand in that time. Of course the general feeling was that it would be better to place them abroad if possible.

Mrs. J. F. Betts won the Hon. L. Clarke's special first prize for best sofa cushion; also Mrs. Thos. Swanson for fancy table cover.

Mr. Gingras, of Winnipeg, who is just up from Montreal where he attended school and medical college during the past six years, arrived in by last mail stage on his way to Onion Lake in the service of the H. R. Co.

Mr. McKee of Cape Breton, who has been here since last fall on a visit to his sons, left by mail stage on Wednesday for east. His youngest son Samuel returned with him that he might once more feast his eyes upon his old home and receive the glad welcome of relatives and friends.
